A Family Guide Smarter Balanced Assessment Results

This past spring students took a statewide assessment in Math and English Language Arts called Smarter Balanced. They were designed to match the new, more rigorous Common Core standards that focus on the critical thinking, problem solving and reasoning skills students need in today's world.

As teachers and students work on mastering these more complex skills, educators expect that in this first year, scores may appear different than on the previous state tests for many students. Although these new assessments cannot be compared to the old state tests, this year's scores provide an accurate picture of each student's academic achievement level. These assessments are only one of several measures including classroom assignments, grades, and conversations with teachers that should be used to better understand if a child is on track to succeed in the next grade.

What should I take away from the assessment results?

- The Smarter Balanced Assessment helps you understand student academic progress and achievement.

What does the assessment score mean?

- The Smarter Balanced assessment measures how well students are performing against the new learning standards that guide instruction in English and Math. Each student received an overall score, which is reported in one of four levels, with one being the lowest. Students who score in Level 3 or above have met the standard of the grade level in that subject. If your child scored at Level 2, he or she may need additional support or practice. Students scoring at Level 1 will need substantial support to fully comprehend the skills and concepts in that subject this school year.
